

Marko Sančanin

Marko Sančanin (1975) studied political science and architecture at University of Zagreb and graduated in architecture at the Zagreb School of Architecture. Sančanin is a free-lance architect, researcher and critic. He is columnist and a critic on various printed and electronic media. In 2000. he founded Platforma 9,81 - a non for profit Institute for Architectural Research based in Zagreb and Split. The work of an institute deals with new concepts of spatial justice, socially sustainable development and cultural implications of transition in SEE Region and post socialist contexts.