

Marian Moiceanu

Marian Moiceanu is a PhD prof. architect, born in 1959 and in 1985 became architect diplomat, after graduating the “Ion Mincu” Architecture Institute. He began his academic career in 1990 as University assistant. In 2004, he earned his PhD in architecture with a thorough research on the Romanian modern architecture in the international modern architecture context. His teaching activity continued within the University for Architecture, acting as lecturer dr. architect and then as professor dr. architect. In 2012, he became Dean of the Faculty for Architecture within “Ion Mincu” University and in 2016 became the Rector of the “Ion Mincu” University.

Mr. Moiceanu has accomplished great results in academic research and scientific projects and has participated in numerous scientific compendiums and international conferences.

He has worked extensively on architecture and urban planning projects, both nationally and internationally, in collaboration with foreign architecture offices from Germany, Singapore, Ireland or Qatar. He is currently owner at M&M Concept 2003 design office (founded 2003), where he undertakes private and public commissions, from residential to public services sphere.